OEKO-TEX

«Collaboration with our institute partners and with our customers is essential for OEKO-TEX[®]. The innovative solutions from isolutions support our ambitions with regard to digitalization, whether in our daily work or in project and product planning.»

Georg Dieners, CEO

The Zurich-based International Association for Research and Testing in Textile and Leather Ecology (OEKO-TEX[®]) was founded in 1992 with the mission of building trust in textiles, leather and their production: through increased product safety, improvement of sustainable production and transparent value chain. OEKO-TEX[®] is an association of 18 independent textile research and testing institutes in Europe and Japan and their global contact offices. The partner institutes are responsible for the joint development of the test methods and limit values on which the various product labels are based.

OEKO-TEX[®]
INSPIRING CONFIDENCE

Cloud Transformation - OEKO-TEX® now goes with the Workplace as a Service from isolutions, combined with telephony from Sunrise.

Initial situation

OEKO-TEX® maintained an IT infrastructure that was no longer state of the art. Communication and knowledge exchange are central elements within the OEKO-TEX® community.

In order to make this exchange even more efficient, OEKO-TEX® decided on the IT conversion together with isolutions.

Solution

With the introduction of Workplace as a Service from isolutions, OEKO-TEX® work devices and servers are now operated by isolutions. This makes IT costs fully scalable and easier to plan. Expensive investment costs for new hardware are eliminated and OEKO-TEX® always benefits from the most modern cloud services. Data storage was implemented centrally on SharePoint.

Thanks to the services from the cloud, business data can now be accessed flexibly and regardless of location. Thanks to the cooperation with Sunrise, telephony was set up via Microsoft Teams.

Benefits

- Plannable IT costs.
- Modular system with tools and apps for targeted work.
- Employees work independently of location and flexible.
- Collaboration with external partners is simplified with Microsoft Teams telephony.

efficient working from home

IT costs that are easy to plan

all services
from the cloud
